

KASD REMOTE LEARNING DAY – Information for Families

A Remote Learning Day (RLD) may be used in place of a regular instructional day, but school buildings will be closed, and students will attend classes online. These days can be used for situations when school will not be in session due to severe weather or another emergency preventing use of the school buildings for a short period of time.

NOTICE

Using an RLD is not a preference and will only be utilized when the situation and timing are appropriate and necessary. Weather emergencies unfold differently and with unpredictability making it difficult to have an established timeline for notification. The decision is made as quickly as possible to accommodate planning for employees and families. There may be times when elementary students will bring their devices home as a precautionary measure, but this will not be confirmation of an RLD being used.

SCHEDULES

- Schools will use their respective RLD schedules.
- Copies of schedules should be sent home with students along with contact information for teachers and offices.

MATERIALS/ASSIGNMENTS

- Paper assignments may be sent home with students in case they cannot get online.
- If technical issues occur during the RLD that prevent a teacher from opening a Google Meet, then students should complete the hard copy assignments provided.

ATTENDANCE

- All teachers must Google Meet with each of their classes to take attendance.
 - If students show up for class, then they are present.
 - If they show up late, then they are tardy.
 - If they do not show up at all, then they are absent.
 - Work completion does not impact attendance on the date of the RLD. If a student is present, but does not complete work, then this should be reflected in their grades not their attendance.
 - Students who cannot attend online will be given a deadline of no more than three days to submit the work upon their return to school. Once submitted, the student will be credited for attendance if they were not present on the RLD.
 - Students who are absent the day before the RLD may collect any packet/worksheets upon return to school and complete by the 3- day deadline for attendance credit. If they continue to be absent after the RLD and do not collect/submit work by the deadline, then they are to be marked absent on the RLD. No extensions can be given.
