MR. JOHNSON'S MINUTE...

I hope everyone is having a great October so far! Hill City Schools is off to a great start so far!

Homecoming week was a huge success! The students and the advisor, Sarah Kingsley, all did a great job of organizing the week that had Capture the Flag, Dodgeball, and a pepfest. The week was capped off by the HCN Storm beating Bigfork 46-22.

On the extra-curricular side, the cross country is getting ready for sub-sections soon and they continue to all set personal records. The varsity volleyball team sits at 15-6 and is looking at home playoff game, either on the 28th or 29th of October. The varsity football team is currently 5-1. The Storm is also looking at a home playoff game on October 26th.

Covid-19 cases have continued to rise around the school and county. We increased our mitigation efforts to reduce the spread in school. We continue to ask families to monitor for symptoms and keep students at home if they are sick. If you have any questions, please contact Ms. Delung.

Thank you to Hill City Fire Department for coming to visit our school during Homecoming week! We greatly appreciate everything our fire department does for us in the community. The students really enjoyed seeing the fire trucks!

There is no school on October 21st and 22nd, as it is MEA break.

The end of 1st quarter is November 5th and teachers will have a workshop on November 8th to complete grades. Because of this, there is no school on the 8th.

We have had some staff changes since the start of the school year. Stacey Johnson has been hired as our new physical education teacher. Mrs. Johnson is replacing Mr. Hack, who received a new job at a different school district. Thank you Mr. Hack for everything over the years and Mrs. Johnson for stepping in on short notice. Jodi Gulbraa is also moving on and we should have a new payroll soon. Thank you Ms. Gulbraa for the years of working for Hill City School!

We are always looking for more substitute teachers, substitute paraprofessionals, and bus drivers at Hill City. If you are interested in any of these positions, please reach out to the school and we can go through the process. We still have an opening for a full time paraprofessional to start this year.

As always, if you have any questions, please feel free to call the school at any time.
Go Hornets and Go Storm!

Practical Suggestions for Building Assets in Your Child

FAST FACTS

ASSET #11:
Family Boundaries

Youth are more likely to grow up healthy when families have clear rules and consequences, and monitor young people's whereabouts.

43%
of youth surveyed by Search Institute have this asset in their lives.*

What Are Assets?

Assets are 40 key building blocks to help kids succeed. "Family boundaries" is one of six boundaries and expectations assets.

* Based on Search Institute surveys of almost 100,000 kids in 12th-grade youth throughout the United States.

Clear, Concise Boundaries

Author Stephen Covey knows about the importance of setting and talking about boundaries and expectations. At a family meeting to discuss who would do which chores, Covey's seven-year-old son volunteered to care for the lawn.

Dad gave the boy a tour of the yard and pointed out which neighbor's yard he wanted the lawn to most look like. He and his son then agreed on two concise, clear expectations: clean and green.

After two weeks, Dad asked his son about the lawn. "It's fine," the boy replied, even though his dad knew he had done nothing to take care of it.

"Let's walk around the yard together and you can show me how it's going," Dad replied.

So they walked around the yard. It was obviously in bad shape, and the boy became upset. "It's so hard, Dad," he said. Dad didn't respond but wondered, "How hard is it not to do something?"

Dad then reminded his son that he—not Dad—was in charge of the yard, but he had a few minutes to help out if the boy wanted it. The two then cleaned up the yard. When they were done, the yard was clean and green.

Over the summer, the son only asked his dad to help him a few more times and did the rest himself. The boundaries were clear. The expectations were clear, and the seven-year-old succeeded at keeping the yard clean and green.

time together

Three ways to set boundaries together with your child:

1. Observe the boundaries of other families (neighbors, television families, etc.). Discuss what's appropriate and what's not for your family and why.
2. Post your family boundaries on the refrigerator. Have only five or six. Make sure they are concise and clear, and apply to everyone—not just kids.
3. Meet monthly to discuss boundaries. Are they fair? Do they still fit? Do they reflect the values and principles you have? Adjust them if you need to.

Helpful Hints

Tips that make setting boundaries easier:

- Make them positive. Say what you expect along with what you don't want.
- Strive for concise standards. Have each boundary be five words or less.
- Adjust boundaries as your child becomes older, but know that even 18-year-olds need guidelines.
- Set and follow boundaries for yourself. Be a role model. Admit when you fail.
