Just a heads up, the end of the 2nd quarter/1st semester is January 24th. Grades will be available soon after this. For this school year, we are focusing on attendance. Last month, the goal per grade was 90% attendance, which every grade in the school met and then played dodgeball in the gym as a reward. For January, we are going to go for 95% attendance. Attendance matters and we want to see every student that we can, as long as they are healthy enough to do so.

An exciting new thing happening in our school is the Children's Dental Service. Students from Early Childhood through 8th grade were given a letter to bring home to sign up for this service if they want. Any students are eligible and if you are interested, please stop in the office and get an information sheet. This is all being set-up by Ms. Delung, our school nurse.

Juniors from Northland and Walker-Hackensack-Akeley, along with our own Hill City juniors, were in Hill City on January 17th for an ACT prep class. This is a free offering for our students, along with a free ACT test taking place on February 25th. This is all being set-up by Ms. Koerber, our school counselor. Setting up next year's middle and high school schedule is currently taking place and we hope to show some information to students very soon.

Senior high Knowledge Bowl is currently underway. Led by Ms. Holm, students will travel to Mountain Iron-Buhl and compete against other schools in a competition. Good luck team!

One Act Play has their competition coming up in Aitkin on January 25th. The performance will be open to the public on the weekend of February 14th with showtimes to be announced soon.

Good luck team!

Practical Suggestions for Building Assets in Your Child

FAST FACTS

ASSET #13:
Neighborhood Boundaries

Youth are more likely to grow up healthy when neighbors take responsibility for monitoring young people's behavior.

46%

*of youth surveyed by Search Institute have this asset in their lives.

What Are Assets?

Assets are 40 key building blocks to help kids succeed. "Neighborhood boundaries" is one of six boundaries and expectations assets.

* Based on Search Institute surveys of almost 100,000 6th- to 12th-grade youth throughout the United States.

Reclaiming the Neighborhood

"Banana Kelly," which refers to the banana-curved Kelly Street in the South Bronx of New York, was probably one of the last neighborhoods anyone wanted to live in. Vacant buildings lined the rubble-strewn streets. The city considered it a hopeless neighborhood and the private sector refused to invest in it. At times people in the neighborhood would have to fill buckets from the fire hydrant because their water lines would get cut off.

Yet Harold DeRienzo had hope for the neighborhood. In fact, as everyone else was moving out, he moved in.

Harold began organizing the neighbors who were left. They learned each other's names and started doing things together. They held street cleanups and block parties, and started planting flowers. Slowly, the neighborhood began to change for the better. "Banana Kelly needs to be viewed as a vehicle for local empowerment," Harold says. "To retain a sense of community, people have to have a sense that they're affecting their own lives."

Helpful Hints

Four steps that make neighborhood boundaries easier:

1. Get together with other parents on your block. Discuss neighborhood boundaries.
2. Find three neighborhood boundaries that everyone agrees on.
3. Hold a neighborhood party to report your findings. Get other's reactions.
4. Publish the boundaries in a one-page newsletter for everyone in the neighborhood.

What does this have to do with neighborhood boundaries? Everything. When you ask people why they don't take responsibility for monitoring young people's behavior in the neighborhood, they point to fear. They're afraid of the kids. They're afraid of the kids' parents. In essence, they're afraid of their neighbors.

It's easier to have neighborhood boundaries when people perceive their neighborhoods as caring communities. You don't need to be a community organizer to help create a neighborhood where neighbors monitor young people's behavior. All you need to do is to start getting to know the people who live near you. Start with the ones who seem friendly. Get to know the children. Talk with their parents about boundaries they would like for their children in the neighborhood. Then together you can start building this asset.

Ideas for Neighborhood Boundaries

What are some neighborhood boundaries that you might want to consider?

- Respect each other's property.
- Report any suspicious activity.
- Supervise children younger than 16.
- End parties by 11:00 p.m.
- Talk to neighbors directly about concerns.

Connect, Then Decide

Before you decide on appropriate boundaries for your neighborhood, connect with other neighbors to get to know them. Try these simple ideas:

- Hold a front-yard, neighborhood barbecue.
- Organize all the dog owners to take a walk together (with the dogs) once a week.
- Suggest a parent get-together. Ask older youth to supervise and play with the younger children.
- Contact your local police department and ask for help in having a block meeting to discuss safety.

talk together

Questions to discuss with your child:

- What are the boundaries of our neighborhood? How do you know?
- Which neighbors seem to notice what you do? How do you feel about that?
- How well do neighbors monitor children and youth in our neighborhood?

Tips for Monitoring

Once neighbors agree on some common boundaries, encourage each other to:

- Point out boundaries to youth. For example, if a neighbor hears young people swearing, everyone should support the neighbor saying, "We don't use that kind of language in our neighborhood."
- Call other neighbors about concerns or questions. Distribute a neighborhood directory with names, phone numbers, and addresses of neighbors interested in participating.

FINAL WORD

"Participation in shaping the larger world beyond family and friends is a deep human need."

—Frances Moore Lappé, coauthor of The Quenching of America
