Winter Fest 2015

Winter Fest week kicked off with Ugly sweater day and a big W for the male Hornets against Mesabi Academy. The student body nominated Donald Blanchard, Marcus Wagner, Mat Hilton, Phillip Neisen, Mandi McNeil, Jenna Ihle, Jessica Ihle and Tess Hatfield as Winter Fest candidates.

Tuesday was History and American Pride day. Mat and Tess were crowned the 2015 Winter Fest Prince and Princess. The lady Hornets narrowly missed a victory Tuesday night against Floodwood, losing by 4. Wednesday we saw our fair share of cowboys and cowgirls. The animals came alive on Thursday for animal day. Our lady Hornets traveled to Nashwauk on Thursday night, playing and defeating the N-K girls 62-40. The same night our boys played against Northome, falling short by just 5 points. Friday the halls were swarming with purple! The senior class took home the pizza party for having the most spirit! The boys' basketball team played Friday night against the Bigfork Huskies. The game was a nail biter but the Hornets conquered the Huskies 77-75 after going into overtime! After the basketball game, the Swarm Club hosted a dance. This year's Winter Fest was a memorable one. This leaves me wondering, what will next year bring?

5th Grade History Fair Native American Projects

The 5th graders have been busy researching Native American tribes. Each student became an expert by reading books and other resources on a certain tribe. They then wrote a report which helped meet the Minnesota writing standards for English Language Arts. Finally each student created a project to teach about his/her tribe. These projects were on display at our annual History Fair where the 5th graders got to show parents, grandparents and other students what they had learned.

Practical Suggestions for Building Assets in Your Child

FAST FACTS

ASSET #13: Neighborhood Boundaries

Youth are more likely to grow up healthy when neighbors take responsibility for monitoring young people's behavior.

46%
of youth surveyed by Search Institute have this asset in their lives.*

What Are Assets?

Assets are 40 key building blocks to help kids succeed. "Neighborhood boundaries" is one of six boundaries and expectations assets.

* Based on Search Institute survey of almost 100,000 kids in 12th-grade youth throughout the United States.

Reclaiming the Neighborhood

"Banana Kelly," which refers to the banana-curved Kelly Street in the South Bronx of New York, was probably one of the last neighborhoods anyone wanted to live in. Vacant buildings lined the rubble-strewn streets. The city considered it a hopeless neighborhood and the private sector refused to invest in it. At times people in the neighborhood would have to fill buckets from the fire hydrant because their water lines would get cut off.

Yet Harold DeBlenzo had hope for the neighborhood. In fact, as everyone else was moving out, he moved in.

Harold began organizing the neighbors who were left. They learned each other's names and started doing things together. They held street cleanups and block parties, and started planting flowers. Slowly, the neighborhood began to change for the better. "Banana Kelly needs to be viewed as a vehicle for local empowerment," Harold says. "To retain a sense of community, people have to have a sense that they're affecting their own lives."

Helpful Hints

Four steps that make neighborhood boundaries easier:

1. Get together with other parents on your block. Discuss neighborhood boundaries.
2. Find three neighborhood boundaries that everyone agrees on.
3. Hold a neighborhood party to report your findings. Get other's reactions.
4. Publish the boundaries in a one-page newsletter for everyone in the neighborhood.

What does this have to do with neighborhood boundaries? Everything. When you ask people why they don't take responsibility for monitoring young people's behavior in the neighborhood, they point to fear. They're afraid of the kids. They're afraid of the kids' parents. In essence, they're afraid of their neighbors.

It's easier to have neighborhood boundaries when people perceive their neighborhoods as caring communities. You don't need to be a community organizer to help create a neighborhood where neighbors monitor young people's behavior. All you need to do is to start getting to know the people who live near you. Start with the ones who seem friendly. Get to know the children. Talk with their parents about boundaries they would like for their children in the neighborhood. Then together you can start building this asset.

Ideas for Neighborhood Boundaries

What are some neighborhood boundaries that you might want to consider?

- Respect each other's property.
- Report any suspicious activity.
- Supervise children younger than 16.
- End parties by 11:00 p.m.
- Talk to neighbors directly about concerns.

Connect, Then Decide

Before you decide on appropriate boundaries for your neighborhood, connect with other neighbors to get to know them. Try these simple ideas:

- Hold a front-yard, neighborhood barbecue.
- Organize all the dog owners to take a walk together (with the dogs) once a week.
- Suggest a parent get-together. Ask older youth to supervise and play with the younger children.
- Contact your local police department and ask for help in having a block meeting to discuss safety.

talk together

Questions to discuss with your child:

- What are the boundaries of our neighborhood? How do you know?
- Which neighbors seem to notice what you do? How do you feel about that?
- How well do neighbors monitor children and youth in our neighborhood?

Tips for Monitoring

Once neighbors agree on some common boundaries, encourage each other to:

- Point out boundaries to youth. For example, if a neighbor hears young people swearing, everyone should support the neighbor saying, "We don't use that kind of language in our neighborhood."
- Call other neighbors about concerns or questions. Distribute a neighborhood directory with names, phone numbers, and addresses of neighbors interested in participating.

 - Fire Dept. physicals will be done next week.
 - Maintenance/Water/Sewer/Parks/Airport/Street
 - George Casper said that the Maintenance Shop has 2 inches of fiberglass insulation with 2 inches of foam insulation over it and the foam insulation is starting to fall off. George would like to get quotes on reinsulating the shop and tin to go over it. Neal Roettger suggested that George also get a quote for the spray foam insulation. Neal also said that there is a possibility of a grant for this.
 - George reported that the well has been cleaned and is not on-line yet as they are waiting for a bacteria test to come back.

- George also had taken water temperatures from various areas and discovered that the temperatures are varying from 41 to 44 degrees. At these temperatures the water mains should not be freezing.
- There is one lift station pump that keeps kicking off. George says that they will be “babying” it until it warms up and then they will pull it to see what may be wrong with it.
- George reported that they have plowed the airport once this year.
- George said that they have plowed the streets once or twice this year and that with the cold, the salt and sand does not work.

Clerk

- Clerk McManigle explained that the city has received the new version of the Minnesota Basic Code (MBC) of Ordinances. A new version was developed due to the multiple law changes last year by legislature. Clerk McManigle wanted to know if the Council wanted to have workshops on the new MBC before its adoption. Council wanted this tabled until the next meeting since the full Council wasn't present to set up workshop dates.

George Casper thought that it might be a good idea to have Council members Nate Rollins and Tina Haugen change Commissioner positions. Currently Council member Rollins is Parks/Recreation Commissioner and Council member Haugen is Streets/Airport Commissioner. Since Council member Rollins was not present at the meeting, this was tabled until the next Council meeting.
