Homecoming 2014

Hill City Homecoming week was a success. The theme this year was "The Hunger Games". On the previous Thursday candidates were voted upon. Those Candidates were: Tess Hatfield, Jenna Ihle, Jessica Ihle, Emily Bounds, Dale Simmens, Mathew Hilton, Philip Niesen, and Marcus Wagner. We started off the week with Holiday Day and Powder Puff football. The football game was long and intense, but finally ended in a tie. Tuesday was District Day to go along with our Hunger Games theme. Coronation was held on Tuesday where Emily Bounds was crowned as Homecoming Queen. Tuesday night, the volleyball girls defeated Big Fork in a 3-0 match to become Northern Lakes Conference Champions!

Wednesday was Jersey Day and the elementary pepfest. That night was Power Puff volleyball where the Seniors defeated the Juniors in a heated match. Thursday was Throw Back Thursday, and everyone brought in adorably funny childhood pictures, including the teachers. Thursday night the volleyball girls traveled to Crosby and picked up another 3-0 victory. We rounded off the week with Purple Pride Day and the pepfest on Friday. That night the football boys defeated Lake of the Woods with an ending score of 38-10. After the football game, the 6th-12th graders got their groove on at the dance. Thanks to Jessie Ahonen and the Homecoming Committee for making this year's homecoming a great one!

Parent's Corner

Peer leadership group formed! Students in grades 9-12 were nominated to be part of a peer leadership program. 25 students attended an initial informational meeting, and the ENTIRE group volunteered to be part of this pilot program! We are very excited about the opportunity for mentoring. Hill City School is working hard to implement some positive changes in our instruction, and as a result of those changes, we have a dire need to get common planning time and staff development time. Other area schools have an early release day every Wednesday. We are in the beginning planning stage of that early release idea, but for this school year students will not be leaving the building while we participate in the professional learning communities (PLC). Instead, we are going to have our peer leaders work with elementary classroom teachers and teach a lesson on respect, kindness and anti-bullying each week. These peer leaders will also work with secondary students in guided study settings to provide tutoring and mentoring in organization, time management, academics, etc. In addition to the Second Steps curriculum in the elementary and the guided studies in the secondary, there will also be a DEAR focus. Drop Everything And Read is a national program that focuses on silent sustained reading. Down the road, our goal is to bring community members or groups to work with our students in such areas as D.A.R.E., 4H, DNR, and hopefully other community organizations. Again, we are just beginning to roll this program out, and as with everything there will be a learning curve. But we see this as a really positive opportunity for the secondary students to model and teach respect to our elementary students!

The Swarm update: The fall concessions season is nearly finished, and we have learned a lot about organizing our stand for success. The students have really stepped up. One of our changes is to require the students to find an adult concessions supervisor for every game. For football and volleyball, that has been a teacher and that seems to have really helped. For the basketball seasons, though, we are asking for parent volunteers to help cover. According to the current schedule, here are the dates of home games:

Boys: Nov. 21, Dec. 4, 9, 16, 19, Jan. 15, 16, 27, 29 and Feb. 3, 17

Girls: Dec, 15, Jan. 5, 8, 13, 19, Feb. 2, 5, 19

Both (double headers): Dec. 12, Jan. 9

Please e-mail Laurie Holm at lholm@isd002.org if you are able to help out. We would really appreciate it!

HORNETS behavior code: the students are working on a plan for a behavior code that they will roll out with the k-12 students. For example: H=honest, hard-working, helpful, etc. O=organized, open minded, original, etc.

Behavior at games: The Swarm is going to be working on a plan to change disrespectful behavior at games. Following a game, the student section of the bleachers has been covered in garbage, spilled drinks, etc. It's becoming a bigger problem with the shake machine being up and running as well. We are going to work really hard on ways to teach our students to respect their school and the people who work in it, and not leave an area with a huge mess for the maintenance staff to have to clean.

6th and 7th Grade Parents-Advisory Update

Our Advisory team meets once a week to discuss what is going well and where we need to make adjustments, as well as to discuss individual student needs. The team has been working really hard to keep parents informed of student success, as well as when students seem to need an extra push from home. Where we are currently:

PLANNERS:

- students are writing in their planners daily- EVERY class (with the exception of phy. Ed.) should be written daily and what the assignment is, as well as whether that assignment is completed or is homework
- At the start of Advisory, teachers are checking planners to make sure they are filled out (teachers have a “master” planner that is filled out by classroom teachers each day)
- On Friday, students log on to their own Parent Portal account and write their grades and any missing assignments in their planner
- Over the weekend, students need to have their planner signed by a parent, to be returned Monday. Any students who don't bring the planner back Monday with a parent signature, will have a phone call home

PARENT PORTAL:

- If you haven't done so already, please call Larry Baker at (218) 697-2394 ext. 188 and get a parent portal account set up. We cannot stress enough what a helpful tool this is to use at home with students. You will be able to access all sorts of information about your student, especially grades, missing assignments and attendance information.

LEVEL UP READING AND MATH:

- Students are taken out in small groups for additional instruction in math and reading, depending on student needs. This is an every other day schedule.

RAMP UP TO READINESS:

- On Wednesdays, advisory teachers teach a Ramp Up to Readiness lesson. These lessons focus on having ALL students prepared for post-secondary choices. Sample topics: setting smart goals, using a planner, motivation, using good time management strategies, successful habits, career exploration, etc. For more information on Ramp Up, please visit this website: <http://www.rampuptoreadiness.org/overview>

PARENT COMMUNICATION:

- We are working hard to find ways to keep parents informed, while at the same time, not flooding home with parent calls, etc. Again, this is an evolving process, and your feedback and input is very important to us and to the success of this program. We would like to point out that the calls that come from our Advisory group are related to having planners signed or to coming to Advisory period with all the necessary materials. Classroom teachers have other criteria for making calls home, such as classroom behavior or missing work.
- As we try to keep the number of phone calls down, making sure that the planner is signed EVERY weekend will help with that!

Thanks for your patience as we work to constantly review and adjust this new program to give our students the best possible chance at success. This is a really exciting opportunity and we appreciate your input and feedback to make it the best program possible!

Advisory Team: Ms. Koerber, Mrs. Murphy, Mr. Scherping, Mr. Mikles, Ms. Waterworth, Mrs. Holm, Mr. Johnson

We welcome your communication!

Practical Suggestions for Building Assets in Your Child

FAST FACTS

ASSET #11:
Family
Boundaries

Youth are more likely to grow up healthy when families have clear rules and consequences, and monitor young people's whereabouts.

43%
*of youth surveyed by Search Institute have this asset in their lives.**

What Are Assets?

Assets are 40 key building blocks to help kids succeed. "Family boundaries" is one of six boundaries and expectations assets.

* Based on Search Institute surveys of almost 100,000 kids to 12th grade youth throughout the United States.

Clear, Concise Boundaries

Author Stephen Covey knows about the importance of setting and talking about boundaries and expectations. At a family meeting to discuss who would do which chores, Covey's seven-year-old son volunteered to care for the lawn.

Dad gave the boy a tour of the yard and pointed out which neighbor's yard he wanted the lawn to most look like. He and his son then agreed on two concise, clear expectations: clean and green.

After two weeks, Dad asked his son about the lawn. "It's fine," the boy replied, even though his dad knew he had done nothing to take care of it.

"Let's walk around the yard together and you can show me how it's going," Dad replied.

So they walked around the yard. It was obviously in bad shape, and the boy became upset. "It's so hard, Dad," he said. Dad didn't respond but wondered, "How hard is it not to do something?"

Dad then reminded his son that he—not Dad—was in charge of the yard, but he had a few minutes to help out if the boy wanted it. The two then cleaned up the yard. When they were done, the yard was clean and green.

Over the summer, the son only asked his dad to help him a few more times and did the rest himself. The boundaries were clear. The expectations were clear, and the seven-year-old succeeded at keeping the yard clean and green.

time together

Three ways to set boundaries together with your child:

1. Observe the boundaries of other families (neighbors, television families, etc.). Discuss what's appropriate and what's not for your family and why.
2. Post your family boundaries on the refrigerator. Have only five or six. Make sure they are concise and clear, and apply to everyone—not just kids.
3. Meet monthly to discuss boundaries. Are they fair? Do they still fit? Do they reflect the values and principles you have? Adjust them if you need to.

Helpful Hints

Tips that make setting boundaries easier:

- Make them positive. Say what you expect along with what you don't want.
- Strive for concise standards. Have each boundary be five words or less.
- Adjust boundaries as your child becomes older, but know that even 18-year-olds need guidelines.
- Set and follow boundaries for yourself. Be a role model. Admit when you fail.

Dos and Don'ts of Discipline

Quick Tip:
Tell your children why you chose the boundaries you have.

Do

- Notice and comment when your child does something well. Be specific.
- Give your child your full attention, be affectionate, and calmly state how your child violated a boundary.
- Respond as quickly as you notice a violation.
- Respond consistently.
- Be firm about discipline and suggest better behavior.
- Be consistent by setting the same standards for boys as for girls.

Don't

- Only notice your child when he or she violates a standard.
- Use threats.
- Use physical punishment.
- Attack or ridicule your child.
- Manipulate your child with shame, humiliation, or guilt.
- Use labels, such as "You're lazy" or "You're such a slob."
- Notice the violated rule sometimes and not others.

More Stuff You Can Use

Parenting Toward Solutions gives practical ways to create and enforce family boundaries to bring out the best in your child. (Available from Prentice Hall, Order Processing Center, P.O. Box 11071, Des Moines, IA 50336-1071; 1-800-947-7700.)

talk together

Questions to discuss with your child:

- Is our family too lenient, too hard, or just right in enforcing boundaries? Why?
- What important lesson have you learned after violating a boundary?
- When has discipline felt more like punishment than teaching?

FINAL WORD

"The external structure parents provide for their children . . . helps children develop their own internal structure of self-discipline for taking care of themselves and other people."

Fresh Fruit & Vegetable Snack Program for Schools

Helping school children learn more about healthful eating habits and introducing them to a variety of produce.

The Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program (FFVP) is a federally assisted 2 day a week program providing free fresh fruits and vegetables to students in grades K-4 in participating elementary schools during the school day. The FFVP helps schools create healthier school environments by providing healthier food choices, expanding the variety of fruits and vegetables children experience, and increasing children's fruit and vegetable consumption.
