Aren't your legs cold?
Keven Morehart braves chilly temperatures at a home football game.

How many points was that again?

Lisa Jankauskas and Sierra Hansen count up National Honor Society points for the upcoming Academic Banquet.

You are appreciated!
Danielle Catoe presents as thank you gift to accompanist Vicki Covey at the Pops Concert.

Government Day

Jayd Schuyler takes roll call of the senior class at the Tripp County Courthouse.

Are you texting?

Kelly Assman holds a beautiful bouquet flowers (and her phone) after the one act plays.

Listening intently.

Gerald Witte and WSD School Board President Mike Calhoon attend the Veterans Day ceremony in the army.

Farewell to you.

Barb Hesper Lee retires from Winner High School after 49 years of dedicated service. Barb started working for the Winner School District while she was still as student. She will spend her time with her beloved family. Barb says, "Life is too short to miss out on what you really want to do!"

A moment of encouragement.

This quirky, slightly dark comedy charmed audiences in Seattle's Fringe Festival and kept packed houses talking long after they left the theater. Three sisters, each with her own obsession, struggle to cope with the death of their mother, but their pet bug, Roger, steals the show. One of the actresses who played this show swears she will never swat a bug again.

Great composer Johann Strauss tours Boston in 1872, accompanied by his valet, Rudolph, a clever but not always practical young man. Rudolph's wife Trudi spouts proverbs to keep Rudolph in check. She is shrewd enough to know something is amiss when several young ladies call to meet the maestro and depart with a lock of hair.
